

Prof. Jianwen Chen

University of Electronic Science and Technology of China, China

Email: chenjianwen@uestc.edu.cn

Jianwen Chen, professor of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China, National distinguished young experts. He once served as a scholar of the human vision research center of Harvard University, chairman of the MPEG Internet video group of the international standards working group, and head of the AVS open-source community. After receiving a PhD from the Department of electronic engineering of Tsinghua University, he engaged in scientific research at IBM research, UCLA and Harvard University. In June 2016, he joined MediaLab of University of Electronic Science and technology of China.

He has published more than 50 academic journal and conference papers on IEEE Transactions on multimedia, IEEE Transactions on circuits and systems for video technology, IEEE system journal in the field of media processing and communication. He once drafted two video standard documents and released more than 30 innovative standard proposals. He has more than 20 invention patents. His research interests involve intelligent video coding, multimedia application systems, AI system security and etc.